See our complete list of resources, including links to lessons, films, books, readings, and teaching guides for K-12 at

Resources - Black Lives Matter Week of Action In Schools

Resources for Middle and High School

- 13 Guiding Principles for Middle and High School
- Lessons for Middle and High School
- Teaching Ideas and Stories for Middle School
- Teaching Ideas and Stories for High School
- Films
- Books and Booklists
- Readings for Educators
- Teaching Guides and Additional Resources

13 Guiding Principles for Middle and High School Students

- 13 Guiding Principles and Definitions for Middle and High School
- 13 Principles in Spanish
- 13 Principles in Arabic
- 13 Principles Prompts for Middle and High School
- 13 Principles Mini-Lessens for Middle and High School
- 13 Guiding Principles Posters
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>BLM Guiding Principle or National/Local Demands</th>
<th>Featured Lesson</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Principle: Restorative justice, empathy and loving engagement | Grades 6-8, High School: Teaching activity titled Promoting Social Imagination Through Interior Monologues
Grades 7-12 Last Words Lesson by Kim Spotts |
| Principle: Diversity and globalism | Grades 6-8, High School: Black Muslims in the United States: An Introductory Activity written by Alison Kysia |
| Principle: Trans-affirming queer affirming collective value | Teaching Guide: Rethinking Sexism, Gender, and Sexuality published by Rethinking Schools
GSA Network: LGBTQ Inclusive Lessons and Activities
Beyond Tolerance: A Resource Guide for Addressing LGBTQI Issues in Schools by NYCoRE |
| Principle: Intergenerational, Black Families and Black Villages | Grades 6-8, High School: Teaching Activity titled ‘If There Is No Struggle...’: Teaching a People’s History of the Abolition Movement
Grade Level High School: The Color Line
Teaching activity on the countless colonial laws enacted to create division and inequality based on race. This helps students understand the origins of racism in the United States and who benefits.
Grade Level High School: Burned Out of Homes and History: Unearthing the Silenced Voices of the Tulsa Race Riot, Teaching Activity about patterns of displacement and wealth inequality through the 1921 Tulsa Race Riot titled.
Grade Level High School: Reconstructing the South: A Role Play, Teaching Activity that engages students in thinking about what freedpeople needed in order to achieve—and sustain—real freedom following the Civil War titled
Grades Level High School: Teaching SNCC: The Organization at the Heart of the Civil Rights Revolution |
| Principle: Centering Black Women and Femmes | Grades 6-8, High School: Maya Angelou Still I Rise Lesson Plan
Grades 7-12: Maya Angelou's A Brave and Startling Truth by Kim Spotts |