Curriculum Share RSVP, Educators for Palestine

Hello fellow educators!

On February 3rd from 10AM-12PM Educators for Palestine will be hosting a virtual "curriculum share" geared to K-12 classroom teachers. At this session, teachers will have the opportunity to present and share original lessons and materials they have developed on topics such as Palestinian history, the history of Israeli occupation, and the ongoing genocide in Gaza—every teacher who attends the curriculum share will leave with a collection of lessons they can use with their students.

Our hope is that by creating space to share resources and build meaningful connections, that we can empower each other to serve as changemakers within our individual schools. We especially want to highlight the incredible work educators are doing right now to combat hate, misinformation, and misunderstanding during this critical time. If you are an educator who has developed a lesson around Palestinian history, or the ongoing genocide in Gaza, and you'd like to present it to other teachers on February 3rd, please fill in the form below! Generous humans who donate lessons will be contacted by event organizers to answer questions and provide further details.

During the second portion of the curriculum share, teachers will host breakout sessions where they can present an original lesson and workshop with teachers. Would you like to host a breakout room session to present a lesson you designed? Please note, you don't have to host a breakout room session in order to donate a lesson. *

If you would like to donate a lesson, please attach it here! Reach out to arax@theprogressiveclassroomproject.com if you have any trouble uploading your file, thanks!
