SUMMARY

This investigation is intended to track the current state of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) offices and programming (names will vary) at colleges and universities. It is meant to identify which institutions currently have DEI offices, have shut them down, or appear to have renamed or rebranded their DEI offices and programming.

To date, Defending Education has tracked 245 universities which still have institution-wide DEI offices and/or programming in operation, 180 schools or colleges (such as Colleges of Education, Engineering, or Medicine, etc.), with an overall total of 404 currently active DEI offices and programming.

Additionally, 28 institutions and schools/colleges appear to have renamed or rebranded their DEI offices, 18 universities have removed webpages and/or shut down DEI initiatives, and in a few cases, have moved the DEI webpage behind an institutional login. These cases are noted with an archived page of that institution's former DEI page.

While some, such as the University of Alaska Anchorage, seem to have completely shut down DEI operations; meanwhile, the University of Michigan has allegedly shut down its overarching "Office of Diversity, Equity & Inclusion," yet schools such as Michigan Law and the LSA Department of Psychology still have active DEI pages. Unfortunately, it is often difficult to identify if a university has fully ended DEI programming. Therefore, the removal of institution DEI webpages is noted in the list section to track these changes.

An additional goal of this report is to serve as a tool for identifying the various words and phrases used in place of DEI, or for the purpose of rebranding. In a few cases, institutions appear to have moved DEI staff and programming under its "equal opportunity" and "civil rights" offices.

EXAMPLES

The following university side-by-side webpage examples are meant to highlight how institutions appear to rename or rebrand the DEI office or programming under a different title. The following examples show either minimal changes to the office's overall functionality, webpage imagery, language, titles, personnel/staffing, location, etc.

Each image example includes the archived DEI webpage as well as the current iteration.

University of Georgia

The University of Georgia's Mary Frances Early College of Education appears to have renamed its Office of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion to the Office of Inclusion and Belonging.

Columbia College Chicago

Columbia College Chicago (IL) seems to have changed its Academic Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion programming to Academic Diversity and Inclusion. The updated webpage states that “general federal funding may be at risk” because of the Trump administration’s “new interpretation of laws” which “requires institutions to cease using race in various areas such as admissions, hiring, financial aid, and campus life, including Diversity and Inclusion programs.”

Welcome to the website for Academic Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) at Columbia College Chicago.

As a college, we are committed to an anti-racist campus that takes head-on the systemic issues of racial and other forms of discrimination that permeate the whole of our society. One of our central foci in the area of DEI is enhancing our curriculum to challenge the hegemonic emphasis on canonical cultural and artistic traditions, which often result in a lack of diverse narratives. Along with our engagement with curriculum, we are committed to addressing issues of power and privilege in each of the disciplines we teach as well as all of the various structures that we use to support our students, faculty, and staff.

Learn more about the Academic DEI mission.

LAND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

We collectively acknowledge that Columbia College Chicago occupies the stolen ancestral, traditional, and contemporary Lands of the Anishinaabeg—Three Fires Confederacy of the Ojibwe, Odawa, and Potawatomi, as well as the Miami, Menominee, Ho-Chunk, Illinois, Sac and Fox nations. Although the state of Illinois has only one federally recognized tribal land area, we acknowledge, support, and advocate for the sovereignty of all Indian nations, for the historic Indigenous communities in Illinois, for Indigenous individuals and communities who live in

ACADEMIC DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION

Academic Diversity and Inclusion

The U.S. Department of Education recently notified colleges that they must take immediate action regarding Diversity and Inclusion practices or risk losing federal funding and other student support programs. While financial aid is not directly impacted, general federal funding may be at risk. The Trump administration's new interpretation of laws requires institutions to cease using race in various areas such as admissions, hiring, financial aid, and campus life, including Diversity and Inclusion programs. The college is working to comply with these requirements while ensuring that it remains committed to fostering an inclusive environment.

Diversity Campus Town Hall

Thursday, March 13, 4–5:30 p.m.
The Student Center (754 S. Wabash Ave., 5th Floor Event Space)

The Columbia community is invited to an open forum to discuss our ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion and our approach to addressing questions related to federal Diversity and Inclusion directives.

While the Town Hall is open to everyone, students are especially encouraged to attend and contribute to the conversation.
