

ICE Out Walkouts

WALK OUT 1/30 OR 2/6 : ICE OUT FOR GOOD

ICE killed Renee Good, so Minneapolis rose up. A day after the first city-wide general strike in almost a century, ICE killed again in Minneapolis - murdering Alex Jeffrey Pretti. Now, students in Minneapolis have called on the nation to rise up again. Billionaires tell us we can't afford free college and good jobs - meanwhile, they spend trillions waging war for oil profits and kidnapping immigrants. We're here to prove that no politician can keep their job, no school can run as usual, no business can turn a profit if they side with ICE's violence over us.

1 - Recruit to your action- Use social media and conversations with students all over your school to invite them to join you. (consider using a dorm storm, these graphics, or this flyer)

2 - Walkout - Demand your administrators, politicians, or a local corporation cut ties with ICE.

3 - Host a Mass Meeting - After your walkout/action, you'll have a big list of people who took action for the very first time. Host a mass meeting to turn one-time protest into long-term power to kick ICE out for good. Here's a mass meeting template you can use.

Get organized for the long run. Be a part of a mass movement of students and workers at hundreds of schools rising up on May Day 2026. Check out the rest of this guidebook for training opportunities, peer coaching, and other resources from student organizers across the US.

Step 1: Host a Walkout Planning Meeting. Host an action planning meeting with your team. Set a time and gathering location for your walkout (this can be a central green space on campus, an administration building, a local park, or another nearby location).

- ☐ Assign key action roles
- ☐ Start building a run-of-show for your walkout (Who will you ask to give speeches? What chants will you do? In what order?)
- ☐ Create a recruitment plan:
  - ☐ Identify classes where you can make announcements to other students
  - ☐ Identify where to flyer around campus
  - ☐ Identify time blocks to recruit people before, after, and during school
  - ☐ Set a goal for the # of students who will participate

Step 2: Recruit! Recruit! Recruit!

- ☐ Edit, print + hang up full-sized flyers & hand out quarter-page flyers at every entrance/exit to your school before or after school
- ☐ Make announcements to your classes & get other members of your organization/planning team to do the same

WALK OUT 1/30 OR 2/6 : ICE OUT FOR GOOD

- ☐ Send out a media advisory (before your action) to local reporters who could write a news story about your walkout
- ☐ Edit this template or this template with your walkout details and post it on IG! Sample caption: !!WALKOUT ON FRIDAY !!JOIN US at [TIME] at [LOCATION] to demand [XYZ].

Students in Minneapolis walk out in January 2026. UT Austin students reject Trump's anti-immigrant demands in October 2025.

Step 3: Walk Out! Pass out flyers as students walk into classes the morning of your walkout.

- ☐ Post a reminder on social media to hype people up!
- ☐ Send out your media advisory again on the morning of your walkout.
- ☐ Execute your action plan: chants, songs, speeches, and nonviolent non-cooperation.
- ☐ Post your photos/videos on socials. Check out smvmt.org/dal for inspiration!

Step 4: Absorb! A walkout disrupts business as usual, and is a simple form of non-cooperation. In order to build our movement by using this tactic, we must absorb the folks who attend into long-term organizing because the more people we have behind us, the more powerful we are. To make sure folks continue to take action with us and grow our movement, do the following simple steps!

- ☐ At the end of your walkout, announce your next meeting time or invite people to a local Anti-ICE coalition/organization event!
- ☐ Pass out flyers that announce your next event on Feb. 6th! (host a mass meeting, training, etc.) & get participants to sign strike cards so that you can collect their contact information and invite them to your next event.
- ☐ Network at your walkout, identify organic leaders, and recruit them to your organization!

Step 5: Host a Mass Meeting! Great! We executed the walkout; people were excited, loud, and felt empowered. Now what? We need to train them to continue organizing and continue absorbing them into our movement.

- ☐ Host a mass meeting or training!

WALK OUT 1/30 OR 2/6 : ICE OUT FOR GOOD

- ☐ Find a room: Set a goal number of attendees & find a room that can accommodate that many people. Think BIG.
- ☐ RECRUIT: Hang up & pass out flyers between your walkout and mass meeting/training. Keep making classroom announcements.
- ☐ Prepare your materials
- ☐ Split up sections of your meeting/training!
- ☐ Execute!
- ☐ After the meeting, reach out to members, set up a 1:1, and invite them to your next event!

Recruit to your Action with a Dorm Storm (adapted from Students Demand Action Dorm Storm Guide)

What is a dorm storm? A Dorm Storm is a tactic where members of an organization knock on each door in a college dorm building and get commitments from students to take an action of some kind, often registering to vote. Preparing for your dorm storm:

Set goals for your team:

- ___ Students talked to
- ___ Members of your organization knocking doors
- ___ Commitments from students to take action with you

Pick dorms to knock doors in: You may need keycard access to get into certain dorm buildings. Choose dorms where your members are or have connections to residents and can help you get into buildings. Think about which dorms house the most students, and if there are any special interest floors or dorms that you'd want to prioritize engaging.

Practice your "pitch": Determine what action you'd like students to commit to at the doors.. How will you open the conversation? What do they need to know to commit?

Print off flyers & order strike cards: At each dorm room door, you'll either ask people to sign a strike card, or if they don't answer the door, you'll slip a flyer under their door.

Make a plan to follow up: A few days after your dorm storm, you should text, call, or email everyone you talked to reminding them of the commitment they made and inviting them to your next meeting or action.

On the day of: Meet in one location, then send people off to knock doors! Debrief as a group at the end of your dorm storm: What went well? What would you do differently next time? What parts of your strategy and pitch resonated with students and what didn't?

Get organized for the long run. Be a part of a mass movement of students and workers at hundreds of schools rising up on May Day 2026. Check out the rest of this guidebook for training opportunities, peer coaching, and other resources from student organizers across the US.

THE VISION: POLITICAL REVOLUTION

Right now, our system is captured by billionaires and the politicians they've bought. This isn't new. We've watched as college gets more expensive, good jobs disappear, and our futures get more uncertain. Now, Trump is taking it further. He is deploying the military onto our streets, threatening to jail and deport people like Mahmoud Khalil who speak out against his corruption. He's giving badges to thugs to kidnap immigrant communities, waging war on our dime, screwing over working people, and getting ready to steal the next election.

If you're reading this guidebook, you know this. Authoritarians use fear, threats, and violence to break the rules, keep us divided and afraid, and keep themselves in power. Authoritarianism means the game is rigged.

But most people in America don't know that yet. They know they are scared and angry. They know that they work hard and still get screwed over. They know that neither political party is fighting for them right now. They're ready to be asked to do something big. Our job? Turn millions of people taking action for the first time into real people power. What happens after a street protest? People go back home, and their power goes with them.

But what if instead of a street protest, people took actions that imposed a real political or economic cost on any corporation or politician who sides with Trump and his billionaires instead of us? What if millions of people refused to cooperate? What if millions of people didn't just say no to ICE and authoritarianism, but also put forward a clear vision for what we demand? A political party for workers and students, free public college, no more wars, a jobs guarantee, a Green New Deal.

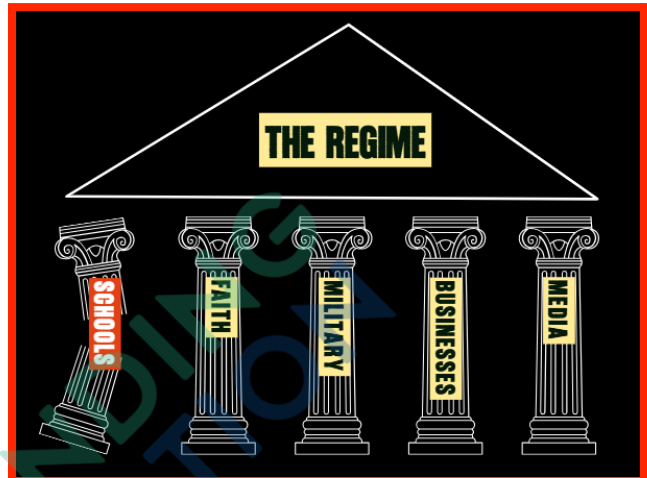

Students in Minneapolis walk out in January 2026. Students at UT Austin reject Trump's college demands letter in October 2025

Throughout history and around the globe, students and workers have always been key to bringing down dictators. Workers have organized strikes and boycotts that bring massive corporations to their knees until they give us our demands. Students have been the spark of courage. Ordinary people have ignited electoral revolutions - a surge in voter turnout that breaks a broken partisan system to elect champions who fight for us. In Nepal, Serbia, South Africa, and the Jim Crow South, mass non-cooperation has worked.

Non-cooperation is working here and now.

Minneapolis youth held noise actions nightly so Hilton hotels kicked ICE out. People boycotted Spotify and Avelo Airlines until both companies dropped their DHS/ICE contracts. In October, students and workers at nine universities got a ransom letter from Trump: kick out immigrants or lose your federal funding. We walked out and won.

By organizing our schools and refusing to cooperate, we're taking down one of the many "pillars" holding up this regime.

On May Day 2028, United Auto Workers President Shawn Fain has called for a general strike. Unions with millions of members are aligning their contracts so that on 5/1/28, this will be the largest day of mass non-cooperation in US history. We have the opportunity to impose billions of dollars of damage on any corporation that props up this authoritarian regime. And on May Day 2028, both political parties will be choosing their Presidential candidates. On May Day 2028, we prove that no candidate can get elected without us.

To get there, we need to do three things:

- Disrupt: We need mass non-cooperation to halt the authoritarians' advance. That means building majorities of students and workers at our schools.
- Clear House: We have a chance to defeat the billionaire establishment of both parties in November. If we do that, we open the door to changing our political system.
- Un-Rig: Channel people's fear and outrage into organized power so that any politician or college leader who wants a job has to work for us.

We're not going to get there overnight, and we're not here to get back to the status quo. We're here to win a political revolution. This is your guide to start winning at your school right now.

A core principle behind all our work is a commitment to nonviolent action. We expect all participants to seek to de-escalate any potential confrontation with those who disagree with our values and to act lawfully at these events. Weapons of any kind, including those legally permitted, should not be brought to events.

THE PLAN: MAY DAY 2026

This year, the US left has united behind May Day 2026 as a key opportunity. Millions of people will rise up and take action, and workers and students can lead the way. May Day 2026 is much more than just another street protest. May Day 2026 is how we:

- Practice Mass Non-Cooperation: In a protest, we chant and go home. No billionaire or politician pays a price. On May Day 2026, workers and students will use tried-and-tested tactics to boycott businesses propping up ICE, walk out of school and work to prove this country can't run without us, and disrupt business-as-usual.
- Prove Our Power So We Can Pick Bigger Fights: In labor organizing, we use the term "structure test." Right now, ordinary people don't yet believe they have the power to win change. Billionaires don't yet believe we can take the system from them. Structure tests are opportunities to prove to ourselves, the public, and the billionaires that we're powerful. Once people know their own power, they have the confidence to take on bigger fights next.
- Set the Movement's Agenda: If people stand in the streets without a unified, clear, bold demand, we won't get much out of the power we've built. If twenty million people show up with clear demands and non-cooperative actions, we have a lot more power to pick bigger fights in the future. Politicians won't feel the heat until we tell them what we want - loud and clear.

Why are we trying to get the majority of our school to take action with us? Why does scale matter? Movements win when ordinary people across identity lines join us - not just the same activists over and over again. We need to talk to new people and invite them into our movement.

The easiest way to do this is to break down your school into units you can organize, set popular bold demands that the majority of your community cares about, and use strike cards to have one-on-one conversations with new people so they join the movement.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER MAY DAY?

3

Images: As part of Students Rise Up, students at DC colleges walked out of school to protest the federal military occupation of their city in August 2025. On the right, students plan to organize affinity groups and unions into their campaign.

After May Day, it's our job to absorb millions of new people from individual action into ongoing, meaningful participation. Here are some ideas your hub might choose to use:

- RECRUIT: Every person who shows up on May Day should have someone from your Sunrise hub walk up to them, collect their contact information, and invite them to stay involved. Then, have a one-on-one conversation about what moved them to action.
- CAMPAIGN: Maybe you'll choose to keep up the fight against a corporation or politician in your community who is upholding the system. Reflect on what you learned from your May Day organizing.
- VOTE: Maybe you've got a fighter on the ballot in November who can defund ICE and refund schools and communities in Congress if they win – or a particularly terrible politician who can pay a price at the ballot box for selling out to the billionaires. Right now, politicians believe young people don't vote. Let's prove them wrong: fight for us or lose your job.
- TEACH: Host a How to Build a Revolution Teach In and get 50-100 new people there. Or, send them to How to Build a Revolution online.
- TRAIN: We're going on tour this summer, training thousands of young people how to build political & economic people power. Send new leaders and members to a training near them.

THE PATH TO MAY DAY

4

Check out the Monthly Action tab to see example actions you can take. Use the May Day Organizing Plan tab to plan your actions, which specific politician or corporation you want to target, and what you're demanding on May Day. Multiplied by thousands of actions and millions of people, we can chip away at the corporations, college leaders, and politicians propping up authoritarianism.

Check out the Art and Narrative tab to connect your local action to a nationwide vision - together, we can take on bigger fights and win bigger things.

TRIGGER MOMENTS: TURNING MASS OUTRAGE INTO POWER

5

We can't plan for everything. There will be moments - trigger moments - that force us to respond to new crises and suddenly spark masses of new people into action. When ICE murdered Renee Good and Keith Porter Jr., millions of people suddenly protested and walked out of school nationwide. No one could have predicted this specific tragedy – but we could have predicted that the scale and violence of Trump's ICE would spark mass outrage.

Students protest the defunding of the Department of Education; students and workers at Duke University demand justice for campus workers targeted by ICE and their campus administrators.

Use Strike Cards to recruit ordinary people on the street, at an action, or in your community to join you on May Day. Recruit With Strike Cards

As organizers, it's our job to make sure that mass outrage turns into long-term people power. That means responding quickly, giving people meaningful actions to take, and absorbing them into your membership once they take action. Ask your organizing team:

- What authoritarian trigger moments are most likely to happen in the next 1-6 months?
- When a trigger moment happens, millions of people will be outraged and ready to act. How do we make those actions as non-cooperative and effective as possible?
- Can I set up a teach-in 1-2 weeks after a big action that gives people a clear next step? Can we show up to the action to recruit people to that next step?

Your May Day Organizing Plan

YOUR MAY DAY ORGANIZING PLAN

[MAKE A COPY OF THIS FOR YOUR OWN USE]

PART ONE: BUILDING MAJORITIES AT YOUR SCHOOL

We live in a moment where millions of people will take action for the first time. Our job is to bring new people to the movement, give them something meaningful to do with their outrage, and turn one-time protest into long-term action.

Images: Students in January 2026 planning to organize their campuses for May Day 2026.

Why Recruit Majorities?

The success of our movement relies on our ability to build real collective power within our campuses and communities. We will only do that if we organize majorities and recruit from all corners of our schools, across race, class, identity and background.

- Power in numbers: If we only organize people that share our identity, that will limit the amount of power we can build. We need more people to win. When there are more of us, we can win bigger things.
- Safety in numbers: In the face of protest suppression, the more people that are part of the mobilizations, the less individuals can be targeted and punished. When action is normal and commonplace, more people join us.

What is Holding Us Back from recruiting new people?

If this was easy, we would already have a massive network of students on our campus ready to be mobilized. There are a lot of barriers to get overcome in order to recruit at the scale we need.

- Emotions - Fear, social anxiety
  - Our opposition wins if we are too scared to talk to our neighbor - fight the fear and talk to someone new. It gets easier the more you do it.
- Strategy - our strategy doesn't think winning requires big recruitment
  - We've spent decades with small groups of activists advocating for moral positions - it hasn't worked. We need masses of people of all identities with us.
- Disinterest - Not "wanting to recruit", Blaming students for being apathetic

- Every interaction should be filled with hope. Despair is an easy trap to fall into, don't fault the students who haven't yet been connected to the movement
- Capacity - "Too busy to do strong recruitment"
  - Recruitment should be the top priority. If you're doing it right, capacity will fix itself

How Do We Recruit Majorities? Structure Based Organizing

Map out your school - think about the different bases on campus and where they fall on the spectrum of support below. Think about different cultural orgs, popular clubs, sports, greek life, religious spaces, apolitical students, recruiting based on major or department. When you have mapped out the spaces on campus with the most pull - build trust with their leaders through 1:1's and attending meetings and hear them out. Ask yourself: what structures exist in my school to organize?

Structures are "bounded constituencies" or pre-existing groups with a quantifiable and identifiable membership. A structure IS

- A workplace
- A church
- A university
- A major or department within your university
- A dorm building

A structure is NOT

- Your political student org
- An issue-based advocacy group

Pick a Structure to Break Down My School Into Organizable Units

- What structures can I use to organize my school into smaller units?
- Who is the organic leader in each unit? Who would be capable of moving the majority of this structure with one phone call or face-to-face conversation?

Structure Example (one way you could break down your school into bite-sized units)	# of People Per Unit (ideally, around 50)	Do I have contacts/ leaders in this unit? (ideally yes)
Homeroom class	30 people per room
College dorm / hall	100-500 people per hall
Sports team, club, affinity group	20-100 people? Depends...
What else?

What else?
------------	--	--

Pick a Structure Test to Measure Your Organizing

1. Pick one of the structures that a member of your group has identified
2. Select the percentage of participation you are aiming for (shoot for above 50%)!
3. Design a structure test that would engage that percentage of people in the structure.

Structure Test Example	What % of People In My School Should Complete This Ask?	What would this structure test look like for you?
Sign a petition		At my school, we're organizing to get ICE off campus. At least 50% of the student body should sign our petition to demand ICE off campus.
Wear the same color on one day
Come to a meeting
Participate in an action
What else?

PART TWO: PICK YOUR TARGET AND DEMAND

PART THREE: PLANNING YOUR CAMPAIGN ARC

PART FOUR: PLANNING YOUR MAY DAY NON-COOPERATIVE ACTION

PART FIVE: ABSORBING FROM MAY DAY INTO LONG TERM POWER

Take Action Monthly

TAKE ACTION MONTHLY ON THE PATH TO MAY DAY

On May Day 2026, students, faculty, and staff across the nation will RISE UP, walking out of class and disrupting business-as-usual. We can't get there overnight. So for the rest of the school year, students will begin taking action the first Friday of each month to build power on campuses across the nation. These actions start smaller, escalating month-by-month until May Day 2026.

Use your May Day Organizing Plan to design effective actions that turn the heat up on your target, build your base, and make your demands clear to the public.

Action Roles

It takes a lot of people to pull off an action - every single one of these roles should be filled for your action to succeed. Roles labelled ⚠️ are important if your action might break rules (a sit-in at an admin building, or a march through a part of campus where protest isn't allowed) or involve interactions with law enforcement.

Role	Description
Action Lead	(manages the whole action)

Recruitment Lead &amp; Helpers	(Responsible for ensuring a lot of people are invited to the action via text, call, social media, and conversations)
Absorption / Welcome Lead	What ask will you make at the action itself to serve as a springboard and give people an opportunity to plug in moving forward? We call this process absorption. Make sure you designate at least 1 person to run absorption at the action, and more to help follow up with people afterwards via call, text, and one-on-one conversation. Timeline: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 1 day after action - send thank you text/check in with people</li> <li>• 2 days after action - invite people to the next meeting</li> <li>• 3 days after action - schedule one to one conversations between current members and new people.</li> </ul>
Speakers	(Energizing the crowd with stories and information)
Art Lead	(Folks who design the signs, banners, staging, and overall appearance of the action)
Press Wrangler	(Texts with reporters, directs reporters to Spokespeople)
Spokespeople	(May overlap with speakers - these are the people who are prepared to talk to media)
Social Media Lead	(Is posting on social media and gathering all the photo & video)
Photographer &amp; Videographer	(takes photos and videos of the speakers and the crowd. Upload photos from your action/art build to a Drive folder!)
Chant/Song Leaders	(leads songs and chants at the action. Pull songs from smvmt.org/songbook )
Marshalls ⚠️	(Folks who stand around a larger action - 50+ people - to make sure people stay safe/de-escalate conflict, sometimes they wear yellow vests!)
Police Liaison ⚠️	(In case police show up, someone to communicate between the police and the action lead/participants)
