Hey Adrienne,

If [REDACTED] wants to use the IMSA Amazon account I will have to send an award down via Special Trust. The other option would be for someone to charge it to their personal card and submit for reimbursement using your retention account in the IMSA Fund (This might be easier given the PO deadline). Also wanted to give you a heads-up that our Cherry Endowment is going to cover $640 for the graduation sashes and up to $1200 for the graduation lunch. I am sending the $640 down to the academy today. Once [REDACTED] sends the account info, [REDACTED] can go ahead and submit Purchase Order to reimburse his P-Card.

Hi [REDACTED]

The funds will come from the EAF budget. It's a student bonding activity, so it should not be a problem paying for it out of my regular budget. If there are any problems, the money can come from my Multicultural Retention Undesignated (0131-0000), which is located upstairs and would need to work through [REDACTED] -Adrienne

Hi [REDACTED]

Two boxes have arrived. My headshot is attached and here is my bio:

- Short Version: Dr. Adrienne Coleman is a senior-level innovative, creative, problem-centered, equity-minded leader who has contributed to the diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) space for the past twenty-five years. As a speaker, researcher, and DEI expert, she has influenced educational [REDACTED], social-service organizations, government agencies, law enforcement, and international groups in moving DEI work forward. This includes developing strategies focused on diverse talent acquisition; designed training initiatives on equity-mindedness, cultural competence, implicit bias, anti-racism, and gender/sexuality equity; as well as operationalizing DEI policies and implementing strategic plans to impact systemic change. Her research-based models and frameworks have assisted organizations in developing inclusive, welcoming environments that create sustainable equity so that all people can thrive.
- Long Version: Dr. Adrienne Coleman, a nationally recognized speaker/researcher, serves as the Director of Equity and Inclusion at the Illinois Mathematics and Science Academy (IMSA). In this role, she is responsible for assessing potential barriers and developing strategies focused on recruiting and retaining a diverse community as well as implementing IMSA's equity and excellence plan. Not only has she influenced diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) practices at IMSA, she has assisted educational institutions, social-service organizations, law enforcement, government and international organizations in moving this work forward for approximately 20 years. Previously, she worked at Rutgers University as a Program Development Specialist, Research Assistant and Adjunct Faculty with the Bloustein School of Public Health as well as at Illinois State University as a Health Educator. She served as an AmeriCorps member and was part of the United States delegation team that assisted Moldova (Eastern Europe) in addressing issues of human trafficking and inadequate health education.

Coleman has a vast amount of knowledge in advancing diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI), and has engaged in 10 years of research around equity. This inquiry process led to the development of the E²: Equity and Excellence Framework, a scalable, actionable, comprehensive approach designed to eliminate educational inequities and promote high-quality learning for all students. In addition, her equity-focused research in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) has informed programs throughout the nation, been shared globally, and led to the development of the D-STEM Equity Model, a comprehensive approach to diversifying the STEM education to career pipeline, from a racial perspective.

Resulting from her contributions to the DEI-focused research, Dr. Coleman was the recipient of the 2025 OnCon Top 10 DEI Professional, 2024 United Nations of Greater Chicago Global Goals Award, 2024 Honorary Doctorate of Humane Letters from Eastern Illinois University, 2021 Midwest and Plains Equity Assistance Center Equity Innovator Award, 2020 ISU Alumni of the Year Award, 2018 IMSA Presidential Leadership Award, the 2018 Top Ladies of Distinction Hidden Figures Award, the Leon Lederman Scholars Award for years 2013 – 2018, the 2016 NAACP Trailblazer in Education Award, and the IMSA 2012 $E = MC^2$ award.

Dr. Adrienne Coleman possesses a Doctorate in Educational Leadership from Argosy University and a Master of Science in Health Education as well as a Master of Science in Higher Education, both from Illinois State University.

Hello!

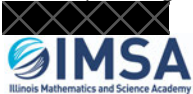

For the Black and Latine Student graduations I would suggest trying to see if you could get a yearbook student that would be willing to take photos. Or if you have a student that you know will be in attendance but would like to borrow a camera, we can accommodate that. ISP unfortunately will not be able to.

You might also want to consider creating a Google Drive and just having students take their own photos on their own cell phones and they could bulk add them to the Google drive. If there are any pictures in particular that they add that you would like me to edit and retouch, I would be very happy to do so.

For next year, feel free to send over request for ISP to be present at an event. Reminder that they require two weeks advance notice. Here is that link. As soon as you know a date for any event that you are doing, and you would like a photography student present, it's okay to fill out the link even if it's months in advance. They will put it in their calendar and assign a qualified kid to help out.
